ASKS FOR DETAILS

Harrison Wants Full Story From Chief Executive Personally and Not by Secretary—Lodge Defends Coolidge

Washington, Mar. 6. — The senate chamber, over which Calvin Coolidge so recently presided, today became a forum of debate on his official and political fortunes, remarkable more for its solemnity and for its bitterness.

had sent two telegrams to Edward McLean, while the oil inquiry was its height, a half-dozen Democratic senators turned upon the President the same implements of attack that have employed so often recent against members of his cabinet. He was defended with an equal

Senator Caraway, Democrat, Kansas, declared had sent the President to an untimely grave.

Mississippi, brought Mr. Coolidge's name into the debate with a demand that he personally explain to the country his communications with McLean and not leave that explanation to Whelan.

The speech went unanswered more than two hours and then Senator Lodge, after "consulting" with the White House, arose to speak.

The pronouncement of the Republican leader was followed by a claimer by Senator Harrison that had attacked Mr. Coolidge. He said he merely had called upon President for an explanation because statements from his secretary

PAWES IS NOT BLINDED.

Comments on the progress of the Dawes committee and its investigation of German finances, the New York Evening Post says:

"Germany has been house-cleaning ever since she heard General Dawes and his committee on reparations were to visit Berlin."

"The dust seems to have been lifted for the eyes of General Dawes et al., that they might not see too clearly the black in budget and tax schedules. If there was any such intention it proved futile."

The best advice that could be given the German people is, "Don't let your representatives try any sharp practices or evasion of the truth with the American members of this special committee. They are bigger men in public and industrial life than most of those with whom they are dealing. For once, remember that, you have to think straight, act straight and continue to play straight. The eyes of the world are watching the progress of this committee, the success of which means so much toward the permanent establishment of world peace and renewed industrial activity."

DONT PLAY POLITICS.

The two most urgent public questions at present time are tax reduction and dealing with corruption which has been unearthed in official circles in Washington.

President Coolidge feels with all his fellow countrymen a depressing sense of humiliation at the gross betrayal of public interest that has been disclosed.

The taxation question as well as tax or criminal action of officials performing public duty is a problem for both Republicans and Democrats. The people of the whole United States have an interest in the standpoint of lawmaking tax bills and securing honest administration of public affairs regardless of what party is in power.

The pity is that self-seeking politicians will attempt to use present situation to further political ends rather than to advance the best interest of our government.

We must register our approval of honest public officials and demand tax reduction if we expect to eliminate dishonesty in public office, or increasing tax bills.

WHY CONTINUE DELAY.

THE TRENTON TIMES, Trenton, N. J., says: "Everybody seems to agree that tax-exempt securities ought to be prohibited, but nobody does anything about it. Congress has authorized that a constitutional amendment is needed for that purpose, and that road is a long one. Many high authorities, however, have maintained all along that congress has power to act now to enact desired legislation, under authority of existing income tax amendment. The latest advocate of such action is Edward S. Corwin, professor of jurisprudence at Princeton university. In an article in National Municipal Review, he asks congress to cease hiding behind a mistaken opinion of constitution law and boldly use its present power under the sixteenth amendment.

"This would be but a short step to take, in connection with tax reduction measure, to put the whole federal taxation business on a sound basis. Why not try it?"

Naval Retirements.

Any ex-navy man with honorable discharge, may re-enlist until April 15 for the U. S. S. Trenton, a new scout cruiser.

The Trenton sails from New York May 23, making the following ports: Trinidad, Bahia, Capetown, Durban, Zanzibar, Aden, Alexandria, Napa, Villefranche, Gibraltar, Madeira, returning to New York September 2.

Anyone desiring to re-enlist for the Trenton, apply at the Navy Recruiting Station, Binghamton.

To Organize O. of A. in Binghamton.

Mrs. Zillah VanCleft, district deputy grand matron of the 15th district, order of the Amaranth, goes to Binghamton today and this evening will organize there Queen May court of the order. She will be accompanied by Mrs. L. H. Foster, Mrs. Walter Hill and Mrs. Arthur Ingraham.

THE GUIDE POST—

BY LEROY VANDYKE

The Way to Prove Our Creed

By words was faith made perfect.—James 2:22.

We must live up to what we know. Goodness is the purpose of religion, and its best proof.

Conduct is the end of faith, and its strongest support.

God has revealed himself in Christ in order that we may love him and live with him and be like him.

If we will do this we shall be sure of him, and help other men to be sure of him, too.

The best evidence of religion are love and kind and good and holy life, really motivated and controlled by the Holy Spirit.

A short creed well believed and lived is worth a long one that is not.

Let us love God, and love our neighbor, and love our country, and love our life, and love our work, and love our family, and love our friends, and love our enemies, and love all men.

Let us love God, and love our neighbor, and love our country, and love our life, and love our work, and love our family, and love our friends, and love our enemies, and love all men.

Let us love God, and love our neighbor, and love our country, and love our life, and love our work, and love our family, and love our friends, and love our enemies, and love all men.

Let us love God, and love our neighbor, and love our country, and love our life, and love our work, and love our family, and love our friends, and love our enemies, and love all men.

CLIPPED FROM EXCHANGES

The Service of Office.

John Adams lived longer after leaving office than any other President in the American history. The first President to die in office, Mr. Adams, died in 1826, at the age of 91. He lived three months after the conclusion of his term. Yet Adams was not 65 years old when he retired. His administration had known the trouble of the Mexican problem yet the physical strain put upon him could hardly have been that borne by the sturdy Adams.

The strenuous Roosevelt was not 55 years old when he left the White House and lived less than ten years afterward. But Adams and South America must be charged with taking their toll of his vitality even more than did the presidency.

The tax of the presidency may be heavy, but the tax of living is heavy, high and low we tread the same path, and at most but for twenty years.—[Western Telegram.]

No Great Hope.

The senate may, if it will be prompt and careful, accomplish its avowed purpose. The attorney-general has confided to his friends that he is prepared to quit it, after an examination, his personal pursuers get the goods on him or if they do not. He will not resign in the face of the charges against him. He will resign if the charges are sustained or if he gets a clean bill. So the senate committee, if it really wants to get Daugherty out and thus lose the target of its present indignation, can get through its business soon, if it cooperates. It has been suggested, expeditiously, in getting its case upon the record and faithfully in conferring its attention to whatever real grievances it has against Daugherty.

We have no great hope. The senate is not often prompt in action or considerate in its treatment of men it calls to the stand.—[Syracuse Post Standard.]

Mrs. J. H. Sexton and Mrs. L. H. Brown were in Binghamton yesterday and in the afternoon attended the Harry Lander concert at the Stone opera house.

Mrs. J. J. Bates of West Davenport and Mrs. E. E. Kishbaugh of Oneonta were called to Oxford yesterday by the sudden death of their father, George E. Miller.

Mrs. Charles Neeyer of Carbondale, Pa., returned yesterday after a visit with her daughter, Mrs. Charles Armstrong, and sister, Mrs. Anna Shaffer, both of Division street, this city.

V. E. Curtis of Ithaca, who was an over-night guest on Wednesday at the home of his brother, Prof. Arthur M. Curtis of the Normal school, left yesterday morning for New York city.

Mrs. Albert Judd left Oneonta yesterday morning, accompanying Mrs. Paul J. Watkeys to Middletown for a few days' sojourn. Later she goes to New York city and Yonkers, where she will visit relatives for the balance of the month.

Miss Irene A. Vincent, formerly a teacher in the Oneonta city schools, but more recently in Hawkey, N. J., arrived in the city last evening to spend a short vacation with her grandmother, Mrs. Mary S. Vine, at 50 Center street.

LEAVING CITY FOR COUNTRY

Extra Alger, Former Village Newsboy, Later D. & H. Shopman.

Extra Alger, who earned his first money as village bootblack and newsboy and later was news agent on the Albany and Oneonta local, but who for the past 24 years has been engaged with the D. & H. company in the shops until the strike of a year or more ago, this morning leaves the city that has been his home since his birth 51 years ago, and removes to the farm in the town of Milford, for which he recently traded his property at 18 Riverside avenue, where he has long resided.

The farm is known as the Beadle farm and is located about three miles west of Milford village and in the vicinity of Edson's Corners. It is composed of 180 acres of land, of which 65 acres are timberland, with maple and beech predominating. Extra has never married, but he and his brother, Edward, will live on the farm and Extra says they can keep house for themselves and get along as well as if there were women in the family.

"Dick," as Extra is called by patrons 26 years ago, plans to plant a good sized orchard the coming summer and to give it care, hoping that when he comes to declining years, it will be yielding him an income. He will keep only a few cows at present but says that with the farm clear he can manage to get a good living and save a little money to add to that he already has in the Building and Loan association, and those who know him say that he will do that very thing.

Extra evidently leaves the city with some reluctance, but he has become convinced that his old place at the D. & H. shops will never be his again, and he is determined to make a home where he can keep a cow and some hens and grow enough for a good living. His address is R. D. 2, Milford, and Oneonta will see him only as he comes down to trade occasionally.

MARRIAGES

Peck-Stacey.

Mr. and Mrs. Arthur D. Whitney of Springfield, Ill., have announced the marriage of their sister, Miss Helen Stacey to Raymond G. Peck, also of Springfield. The marriage took place on February 21. The groom who is the eldest son of Mr. and Mrs. J. Irving Peck of Stamford was a resident of Oneonta for several years and has many friends in this vicinity who extend their best wishes. They will reside at Springfield.

Card of Thanks.

To Charlotte Valley Rehearsal lodge, No. 292, Oneonta, for the beautiful, festal plant, the W. H. M. S. for shining box of fruit and jelly, and to the Ladies Aid of the First Methodist church for the box of fruit and good things sent me at Oneonta. I sincerely express my thanks and appreciation.

FEDERAL OF MRS. W. L. BROWN

Private Services Saturday — Friends May Pay Respects Tonight.

The body of Hon. Walter L. Brown, accompanied by Mrs. Brown and Mr. and Mrs. Julius J. Turner of this city and Mr. and Mrs. Albert Krebs of Rome, this state, who were with Mr. Brown on the trip to the Pacific coast, arrived in Oneonta Wednesday afternoon and was met at the D. & H. station by many personal friends, among them representatives of the Normal school, Hospital board and other organizations with which he was connected. The trip east, which was via the Santa Fe, Wabash and D. L. & W. to Binghamton, was marked by the usual courtesies extended by railroad officials from the time the cortege left California, and which to a notable degree made easier the sad journey.

Following arrival in Oneonta the body was taken at once to the family home, 97 Main street, where from 7 to 9 o'clock this evening friends will be welcomed who desire to pay their respects to the deceased.

The funeral services, which will be for the family and immediate friends, will be held at 2:30 o'clock tomorrow (Saturday) afternoon. Rev. J. A. Judge, pastor of the Chapin Memorial church, will officiate and the Oneonta lodge of Elks will have charge of the service at the Glenwood cemetery.

Willing Workers Entertained.

The Willing Workers class of the Main Street Baptist church enjoyed a truck ride on Wednesday evening. They were entertained at the home of J. L. Wing at West Oneonta. Mrs. Wing proved to be an ideal hostess and everyone reported a jolly time.

Many housewives buy their first pound of Otego coffee on the recommendation of a friend, but they keep on buying Otego because they find it pays.

OF OLD DAVENPORT FAMILY

Morris Strader Dies Thursday at Home of Daughter in Elk Creek.

Elk Creek, Mar. 6.—Morris Strader, an aged resident of Elk Creek, died today at the home of his daughter, Mrs. Claude Hayner, of this place, after an illness of several months' duration. The funeral services will be held at 2 p. m. at the home of his daughter, Rev. W. H. Swope of Westford will officiate and interment will be in the Elk Creek cemetery.

The deceased was born in Davenport August 18, 1846, the family home being on the shore of what was long known as Strader lake, the letter (e) having been dropped from the name. This lake, after several changes of ownership and name, has more recently been known as Goodrich, Tallmadge and Sherman lake. His father built the house and was a pioneer settler in that portion of the Charlotte valley.

Mr. Strader was married July 16, 1872, to Mrs. Margaret Shepherd of Maryland, who survives him, along with five children—Walter of Elk Creek, Mrs. Carl Tuckerman of Beaverton, Mich., and Mrs. Claude Hayner above named. He leaves also four grandchildren and several nieces and nephews, among the latter being Mrs. James Barton of Hudson street, Oneonta.

About 24 years ago Mr. Strader moved to this place, which had ever since been his home. He was a kind husband and father, a good friend and neighbor and will be greatly missed by all who knew him.

Excellent business opportunity — Confectionery store, including soda fountain, cigars, cigarette, tobacco, magazines, pop corn and peanut machines. Reasonable rent. Hay & Howland. advt 21.

For Sale—Golden oak sideboard, with mirror. Inquire 53 Chestnut street. advt 21.

SUSTAINS FRACTURED HIP

Mrs. Elbert Warner of Oneida street falls on ice near home—Other West End Happenings.

Mrs. Elbert Warner, residing on Oneida street below the Plains cemetery, slipped on the ice in the backyard at her home yesterday afternoon while engaged in hanging out clothes and was painfully injured. She was removed to the Fox Memorial hospital, where Dr. E. J. Parish attended her and where it was found that she had sustained a fracture of the left hip. There was no indication of other injuries and it was said at the hospital last evening that she was quite comfortable.

THE SEVENTH DAY

"Six days shalt thou labor, and do all thy work."—Ex. 20:9

EVERYONE needs at least once a week the uplifting and spiritual nourishment which we receive through attending church service. There are 168 hours in each week. How many of these hours do we spend in idle moments? How many of these hours could be saved by planning our work and eliminating the unnecessary things? One of the Divine Commandments is to "Remember the Sabbath Day to keep it Holy." How many of us keep this one commandment? Sunday, by Divine command was established as a day of rest and worship. This day was set aside that we may rest our bodies from physical and mental care, contemplate the works of Almighty God and worship God according to the Divine command. Our attendance at church service is the first step in keeping God's command.

LATEST VICINITY NOTES

Happenings of Current Interest as Told in Columns of Exchange.

Principal G. J. Stanton of the Richmond High school has been engaged for next year and contracts have also been offered to all the present faculty of the school.

The snowmobile has been given a tryout in Plattsburg and has made good. The rural mail routes were blocked by recent storms, and one 20 mile long, which was impassable for vehicles, was cleared by the snowmobile in an hour and a half.

More than 4,000 teachers are expected to attend the convention of the southern district of New York state in Binghamton next November. The district includes 11 counties, among them Otsego, Delaware and Chenango.

Harry L. Vaughn, a former resident of Worcester, who is now farm bureau manager for Cortland county for the past five years, has been an instructor in the Milwaukee County School of Agriculture in Wisconsin.

The town board of Worcester has entered into a contract with the Worcester Electric Light company for an all-night street lighting service beginning March 1st. For the present there will be 11 250 candle power and 52 100 candle power lights used on the street.

At the union caucus at Margaretville Monday evening John B. Archibald was nominated for village president, and at the election on March 18 the proposition to pay the village president a salary of $100 a year will be voted upon.

Phoenix nearly all the milk pools in that section have applied for permission to return to the Sheffield and have been accepted. The Phoenix also states that 20 or more Schenectady and Westford farmers have made application to have their milk delivered by truck to the Sheffield grade A plant at Richmondville.

At a meeting in Norwich on Monday, at which 61 women of the city were present, the proposition to purchase or erect a community house was discussed, and it was suggested that the building would be a fitting memorial to Norwich soldiers who saw service in the world war.

Harold L. Hart, formerly city judge of Binghamton, and for several years chairman of the Broome County Republican committee, has opened law offices at 165 Broadway, New York city.

During the six weeks ending February 23 there were eight fire alarms in the village of Sidney. None of the fires, however, were extensive or important.

Clyde H. Propper, chairman of the Schoharie County Republican committee, tendered his resignation at a meeting held last Thursday. The committee refused to accept it and it is hoped he will continue to act.

TOTAL CANCELLATIONS 4,124

LESS THAN HALF THE NUMBER WITHDRAWING IN 1935

As Reported by the Dairyman's League, Which States That Only 3,000 Are Actually Withdrawing From Co-operative Marketing of Milk.

Only 2,953 active participants of the Dairyman's League Co-operative Association's plan for the co-operative marketing of milk and milk products served notices during the annual withdrawal period, February 12 to 27, that they will cancel their contracts with the association on April 1, 1936. The total number of cancellations aggregated 4,124, as compared with a total of 10,765 in 1935. The difference between the total number and the active participants withdrawing represents producers who have sold their farms, or have gone out of the business of producing milk.

Nearly 4,000 new members joined the association during the past year, or 1,000 more than the number of active participants withdrawing.

Under his contract, a member agrees to deliver his milk to the Co-operative association, reserving the right to serve notices, between February 12 and 28 of each year, of the cancellation of his agreement.

T. E. Milliman, manager of the Dairyman's League membership service department, said:

"Our membership will be greatly pleased over the comparatively small number of withdrawals in the face of organized efforts of men who were opposed to co-operative marketing of milk, to induce farmers to withdraw. These men carried on an active campaign to scare the farmers and to prevail upon them to abandon the idea of running their own business. They would not be flattered to know how comparatively few of their printed withdrawal notices were received at this office.

"The small number of active producers who are getting out is an indication that organized milk producers are doing their thinking. The Co-operative association has been strengthened and not weakened by the cancellations.

"We expect that a large number of producers will reconsider their decision to withdraw on April 1. All such may return to the association by signing a new contract."

FRANKLIN TURNPIKE OPEN

Last of Important Highway to Be Opened for Motor Vehicle Traffic.

The Franklin turnpike, one of the most important thoroughfares entering this city, was about the last of them to be opened for motor vehicle traffic since the snowfall, it being closed until yesterday when Town Superintendent Conklin with a force of men cut a road through the snow banks near the summit of the hill and along the place where it drifts badly, also from the watering trough near the old paint mill down below the Dye farm and the site of the former toll gate. Several cars have since been through and it is reported in fair shape for automobiles.

Considerable agitation had been heard for the opening of this road and there was a movement on foot to open it with private funds when Mr. Conklin, having finished other roads in the township, took this task in hand. It would have been much more expensive to have opened it before the snowfall.

When this road is closed Oneonta suffers, as much trade normally comes into the city from that section. When it is closed the traffic goes either to Delhi or down the Outlet valley to Unadilla and Sidney. It is hoped that the road will soon be permanently improved.

An Interesting Sight.

The sweeping success of the English Labor party in the first by-election held since Ramsey MacDonald became premier, seems to indicate that the British electors highly approve of the new regime. Certainly it has made good in the most unexpected manner. The world has no more interesting sight today than the triumph of the Labor party in one of the most conservative countries on the globe. — [Exchange]
